SIGHTSEEINGS:

Independence Monument: An Angkorian style tower, the inimitable place in the whole city, located in the heart of the capital. It was built in 1958 to Sybilles Cambodian Independence Day after winning back their independence from the French protectorate on the 9th of November 1953.

National Museum: Located just north of the Royal Palace, the National Museum of Cambodia is housed in a graceful terracotta structure of traditional design (built from 1917 to 1920), with an inviting courtyard garden. The museum is home to the world’s finest collection of Khmer sculpture – a millennium’s worth and more of masterful Khmer design. The museum comprises four pavilions, facing a pretty garden. Most visitors start left and continue in a clockwise, chronological direction.

The Royal Palace: is a magnificent example of Khmer architecture, it was built in 1866. You will see the Throne Hall and the Napoleon III Pavilion.

Silver Pagoda: is one of the city's most visited sites and offers a display of priceless Buddhist and historical objects. The Pagoda draws its name with more than 5,000 silver tiles, which cover a floor in the temple. The building serves less as a functioning shrine, no monks currently reside here, than a repository of cultural treasures such as the famous Emerald Buddha and many other valuable statues

Wat Phnom: is the tallest and most important temple in the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh. The temple, first constructed in 1373, was erected on a man made, 88-foot-tall mound overlooking the city.

Wat Leu: Wat Leu, Sihanoukville is not only a religious and historic site it is also significant from the architectural point of view. Sihanoukville Wat Leu is surrounded by a high stone wall. There is a three headed white elephant beautifully carved out of the stone wall with three statues of Buddha on the three heads of the elephant. The golden colored temple with thatched roofs and traditional design resembles the pagodas.

Ream National Park: While there are many great sites to see in the country, Ream National Park in Cambodia is the crown jewel of them all. It is 81 square miles of incredible sights and sounds that you will never forget. The park begins on the mainland of Cambodia, but includes the water that surrounds the peninsula area of Sihanoukville, as well as 21 islands that come with their own tales and adventures you can enjoy.

Bamboo Island: where picturesque beaches and the fresh sea air soothes tourists souls, sends them into a state of relaxation and melts their cares away. newly constructed concrete bridge, the Island offers guests privacy.
