Day 01 Chengdu Dujiangyan Irrigation Project and Mount Qingcheng Tour

Detailed Itinerary: You will be transferred from hotel to visit Dujiangyan Irrigation Project (including battery car), and then proceed to Mount Qingcheng (including cable car). After that, you will be sent to your hotel for a good rest.

Dujiangyan Irrigation Project: built in 256 BC during the Warring States Period of China by the Kingdom of Qin, Dujiangyan is an irrigation infrastructure, which has a great contribution to Chinese agriculture and the development of Sichuan province.

Mount Qingcheng: facing the Chengdu plain, and with the Min River at its back, Mount Qingcheng has wonderful nature scenery. There are tens of thousands of steps in the mountain and tourists can use these steps to reach the top to enjoy the beautiful views. Taoism culture gets great development in this place. As a center of the Taoist religion, it became host to many other temples. In 2000, the mountain was listed in the UNESCO World Heritage Sites.
