Temple of Artemis : Temple of Artemis is one of the seven wonders of the ancient world. In a flat area of first ancient Ephesus, centuries later it became a big bog. Because of Meander river aluvions destroyed Artemis Temple. Today there are the remains of the foundations of this wonderful hellenistic structure. After being destroyed and rebuilt in the second century, the Temple of Artemis was again demolished by earthquakes and was finally dismissed from the Goths. The most beautiful marble remains of this Artemision temple are on display at the British Museum in London since the long years.

Sirince Village : Sirince is an old Orthodox village located 12 km to the ancient city of Ephesus, 36 km away from Kusadasi. The houses in the village are under protection of 200-300 years. The income of the peasants is agriculture and tourism. Peasant women and farmers sell handicrafts and agricultural products they produce in recent years because many tourists come. Olive oil, fruity wines, especially Karadut wine is much preferred. There is a 19th century Orthodox Church in the village. You should taste the local dishes prepared by the peasant women.

Some of the historic houses in the village were designed as a hostel and a boutique hotel.

What makes the area so special is that the temples of three different religions are side by side. The first is the temple of the goddess Artemis Temple before the dawn of the Prophet Jesus (Gamanism), the second is the Saint John Church, one of the symbolic churches of Christianity, and the third isabey mosque, the place of worship of Muslims. These three places of worship give the region a mystical atmosphere. Arrivel and overnight at Kusadasi.
