Day 02: Cancun - Tulum – Coba - Merida

Tulum is the only place where you can find beachfront Mayan ruins. It was one of the last cities inhabited and built by the ancient Maya and it even managed to survive for another 70 years after the Spanish began occupying Mexico. Due to its location on the cliffs of the Caribbean Coast, it used to be an important commercial and political center. Today it is one of the most popular Mayan sites to visit, certainly also because of its magnificent white-sandy beaches with the sublimely turquoise waters, rivaling the best of the Caribbean. At the archaeological site, don't miss the "castle", "the temple of the frescoes", and "the house of the columns". After this, we will have a short visit to Coba, one of the most important and oldest Mayan treasures in the region. Climb the Nohoch Muul Pyramid (the tallest in the region) from the top of which you can enjoy a wonderful view of the amazing sub-tropical jungle that surrounds Coba. We then travel to Merida, also known as "The White City". Merida was founded in 1542, by the Spaniard Francisco de Montejo. Nowadays, Merida is the capital city of the Mexican state of Yucatan, with still a strong influence of Mayan cultural heritage. It features a fascinating combination of art, history and culture, with cobbled streets, stunning architecture, lovely parks, and delicious gastronomy.

In the afternoon you will visit Uxmal, one of the greatest ceremonial centers of the ancient Maya. Uxmal is considered one of the most beautiful pre-Hispanic archaeological sites on the American continent, thanks to its majestic constructions decorated with fine reliefs. Their precision and elegance will astonish you. Admire the "Pyramid of the Magician", the "Quadrangle of the Nuns", and the "Governor's Palace", amongst many other structures. Day 04: Yucatec Beauties: Celestun or Hacienda Sotuta De Peon

For today you can choose between 2-day trips. The first option is to visit Celestun, located 96 km west from Merida. Celestun is a tranquil fishing town with some nice pristine beaches. But the main reason for visiting Celestun is the biosphere reserve Rha Celestun. It's an important wildlife sanctuary with white-tailed deer, armadillos, crocodiles, ocelots, bush turkeys, ducks and many birds. The greatest attraction in this ecological reserve is, without doubt, the flamingo colony, a unique natural spectacle. During this tour, you will explore the wetlands of Celestun by boat. You will be amazed by the local flora and fauna in this tropical paradise, with the unique opportunity to observe the superb pink flamingo in its natural habitat, an unforgettable experience! The best season to see flamingos is from 1 November until 31 March. Alternatively, you can make a trip into the past and visit the Hacienda Sotuta de Peon. This tour gives you a true glimpse of what was once a fully operational henequen hacienda, in the grand style and tradition of the nineteenth century. A unique experience! Travel to the ecological reserve of Cuxtal, where the Hacienda Sotuta de Peon is located, about 25 km south of Merida. Start the visit with one of the hacienda's most important attractions: the machine house, where the henequen shredder was used to generate fibers (Sisal) from the henequen plant. Continue with the sisal factory, where the plant was converted into distinct strands of what would become twine, rope or burlap bags. We will then ride a wagon, pulled by mules on narrow tracks, through the henequen plantation to a Mayan house, where you can experience how the local Mayan people used to live. Refresh at the cenote (sinkhole) Zhul-Ha, where you can swim in the clear waters. Towels, goggles, and safety jackets are provided. Finally, return to the Hacienda where you have the chance to taste some delicious Yucatec specialties.

Included in both options: Breakfast in Hotel, Transportation, English-speaking Guide for all transfers and excursions, Overnight Hotel in Merida

Nowadays, Chichen Itza is undoubtedly the best-preserved Maya site in the region. It is not only recognized as UNESCO World Heritage; it was also recently declared one of the New Seven Wonders of the World. It's definitely one of the most iconic places in the country, a site that can't be missed on a trip to Mexico.
